2. Lord Moon (चन्द्र)

The Moon God, also known as Soma (सोम), is one of the most important deities in the Navagraha (nine planets). In Vedic astrology, he represents the mind, emotions, mother, nourishment, liquids, public life, and the subconscious. He is known for his serene, gentle, and nurturing nature.

Worshipping Lord Chandra by chanting his 108 names, especially on his dedicated day, Monday (Somvar), is believed to calm the mind, bring emotional stability, enhance intuition, improve relationships (especially with one's mother), and bestow mental peace. It is also highly effective for mitigating any malefic effects of the Moon in one's astrological chart.

Each name is chanted in the mantra format: Om [Name] Namaḥ, which means "Om, Salutations to the one who is [Name]".

5. Lord Jupiter (बृहस्पति)

Lord Brihaspati (बृहस्पति), also known as Guru (गुरु), is the planet Jupiter in Vedic astrology. He is revered as the Devaguru, the preceptor and guide of the Devas (Gods). Brihaspati is the embodiment of wisdom, knowledge, spirituality, justice, philosophy, and expansion. He is the greatest of all benefic planets.

Worshipping Lord Brihaspati by chanting his 108 names, especially on his dedicated day, Thursday (Guruvar or Brihaspativar), is believed to bestow immense blessings. These include success in education, growth in career, attainment of wisdom, expansion of wealth, good fortune, and a happy married life. It is also highly effective in mitigating any malefic effects of Jupiter in one's astrological chart.

Each name is chanted in the mantra format: Om [Name] Namaḥ, which means "Om, Salutations to the one who is [Name]".

1. Mantras for Lord Brihaspati (बृहस्पति मंत्र)

8. Rahu (राहु)

Rahu (राहु) is one of the Navagrahas (nine planets) in Vedic astrology. Unlike the other planets, Rahu is a "Chhaya Graha" or shadow planet, representing the northern lunar node—the point where the Moon's orbit intersects the Earth's ecliptic. He is depicted as a celestial serpent's head without a body.

Rahu is a powerful karmic planet associated with materialism, obsession, ambition, illusion (maya), sudden events, foreign lands, technology, and fame. Worshipping Rahu is believed to pacify his malefic effects, protect from hidden enemies, grant sudden success, and fulfill worldly desires. It can also lead to spiritual awakening by forcing one to see through worldly illusions.

The chanting of his 108 names is especially potent on Saturdays.

Each name is chanted in the mantra format: Om [Name] Namaḥ, which means "Om, Salutations to the one who is [Name]".

1. Mantras for Lord Rahu (राहु मंत्र)

Before chanting the 108 names, it is traditional to invoke Rahu with his primary mantras.
